The Survey

You are invited to participate in a survey about how parents are doing and how your child is coping. Your responses will help us to better serve other families and to learn the best ways to help young children who have witnessed violence. More specifically, the survey will be used to assess whether the program is helpful to mothers and children.

The Mother's Survey takes about 1 to 1.5 hours to complete. The Child's Survey takes about 30 minutes to complete. These can be scheduled at your convenience. Mothers receive $25 for participation in the interview and each child receives a small toy.

Information gathered in this survey is kept confidential. All results are reported as a whole group and no one will be identified individually. If you have any questions or concerns please call Dr. Sandra Graham-Bermann at 1-877-647-0789.

Did you know?

Young children exposed to family violence can:

- ...be more anxious than other children
- ...show more aggression than others
- ...be traumatized by what they see
- ...have difficulty in social relationships
- ...have trouble paying attention
- ...have poorer health than children not exposed to family violence.

Kids can be helped with intervention. The Kids* Club Program was developed in 1990. It has proven to be effective in improving coping and reducing behavior problems for children and providing empowerment and parenting support for moms.
